

Contract Inspired Color 2022

Inspiration comes in color.

“Our colors have dimension.
They’re never one note.”

Sandy Chilewich

Everything we weave begins with TerraStrand, the name of our proprietary extruded yarns. We develop the colors of each yarn for every weave we design, and we have the unique ability to extrude two colors within a single strand of yarn. These extraordinary “bi-color” yarns are used strategically when designing a weave, so that colors seem to appear and disappear, providing subtle shading, depth, and dimension.

Rethinking Green

Abundant in nature, the color green is often overlooked for interiors. Creative director Sandy Chilewich and the Chilewich design team recently took a fresh look at the cool hue. Drawing upon organic inspirations—hardy succulents, sunlit pines, richly patterned malachite—they developed greens that are both vibrant and versatile.

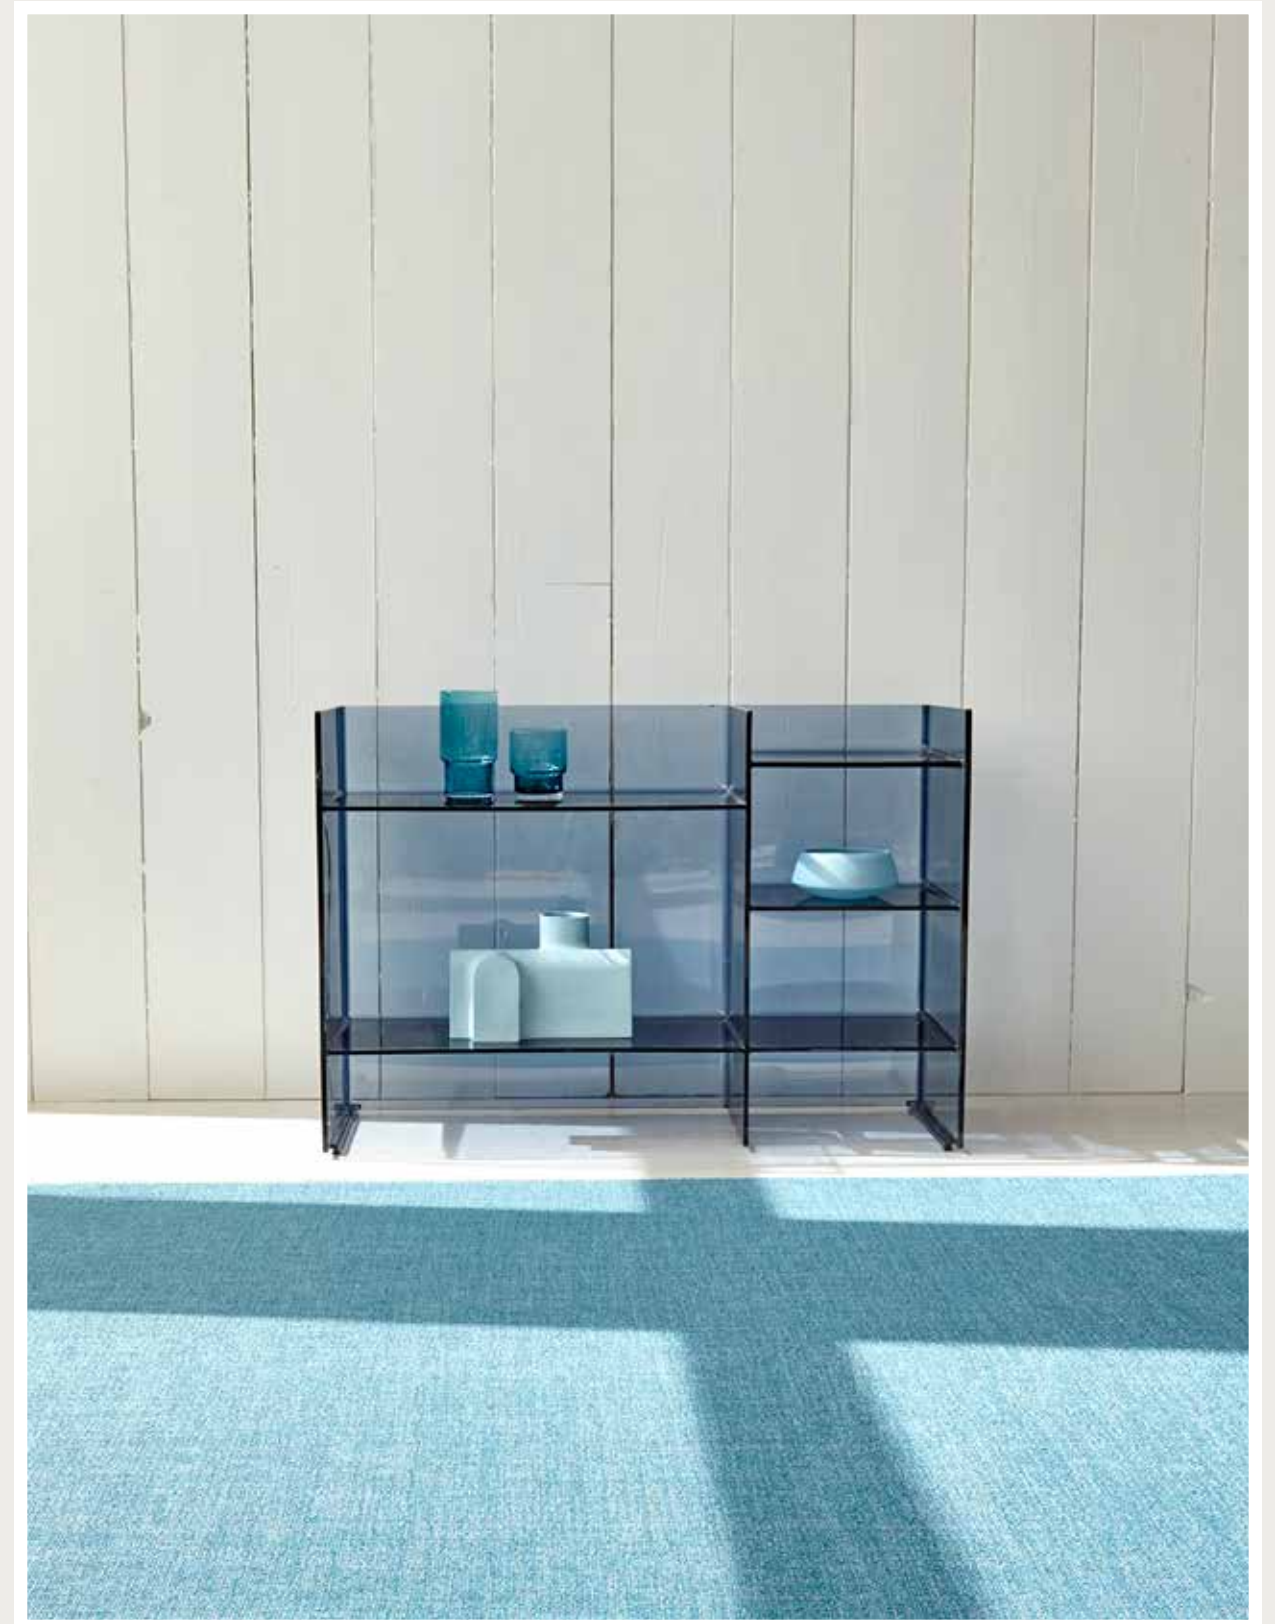

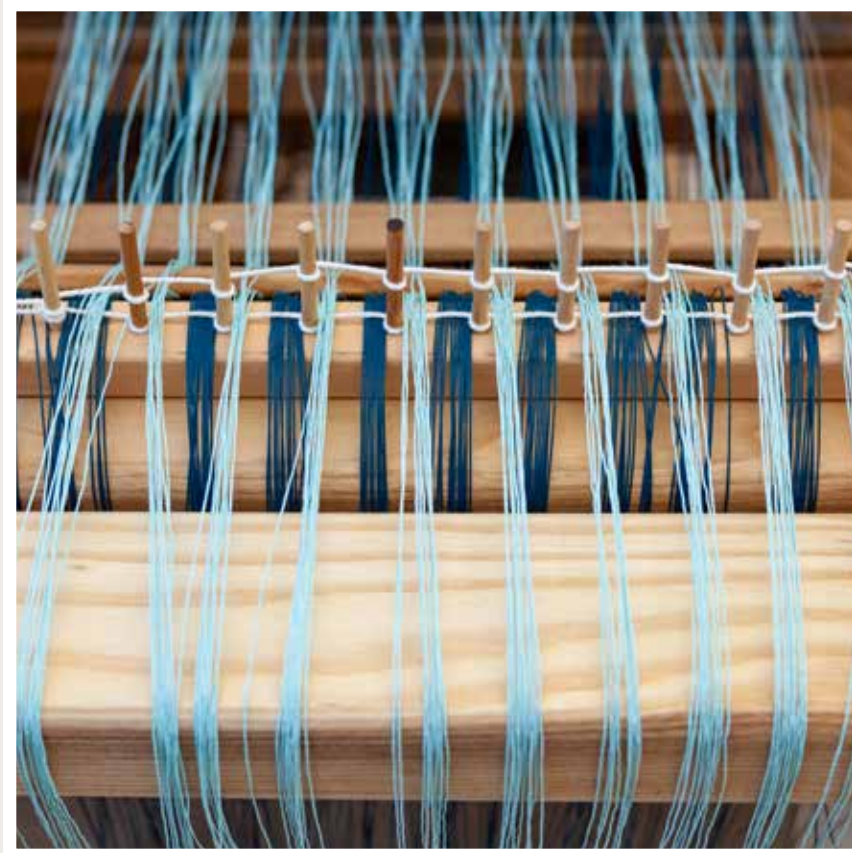

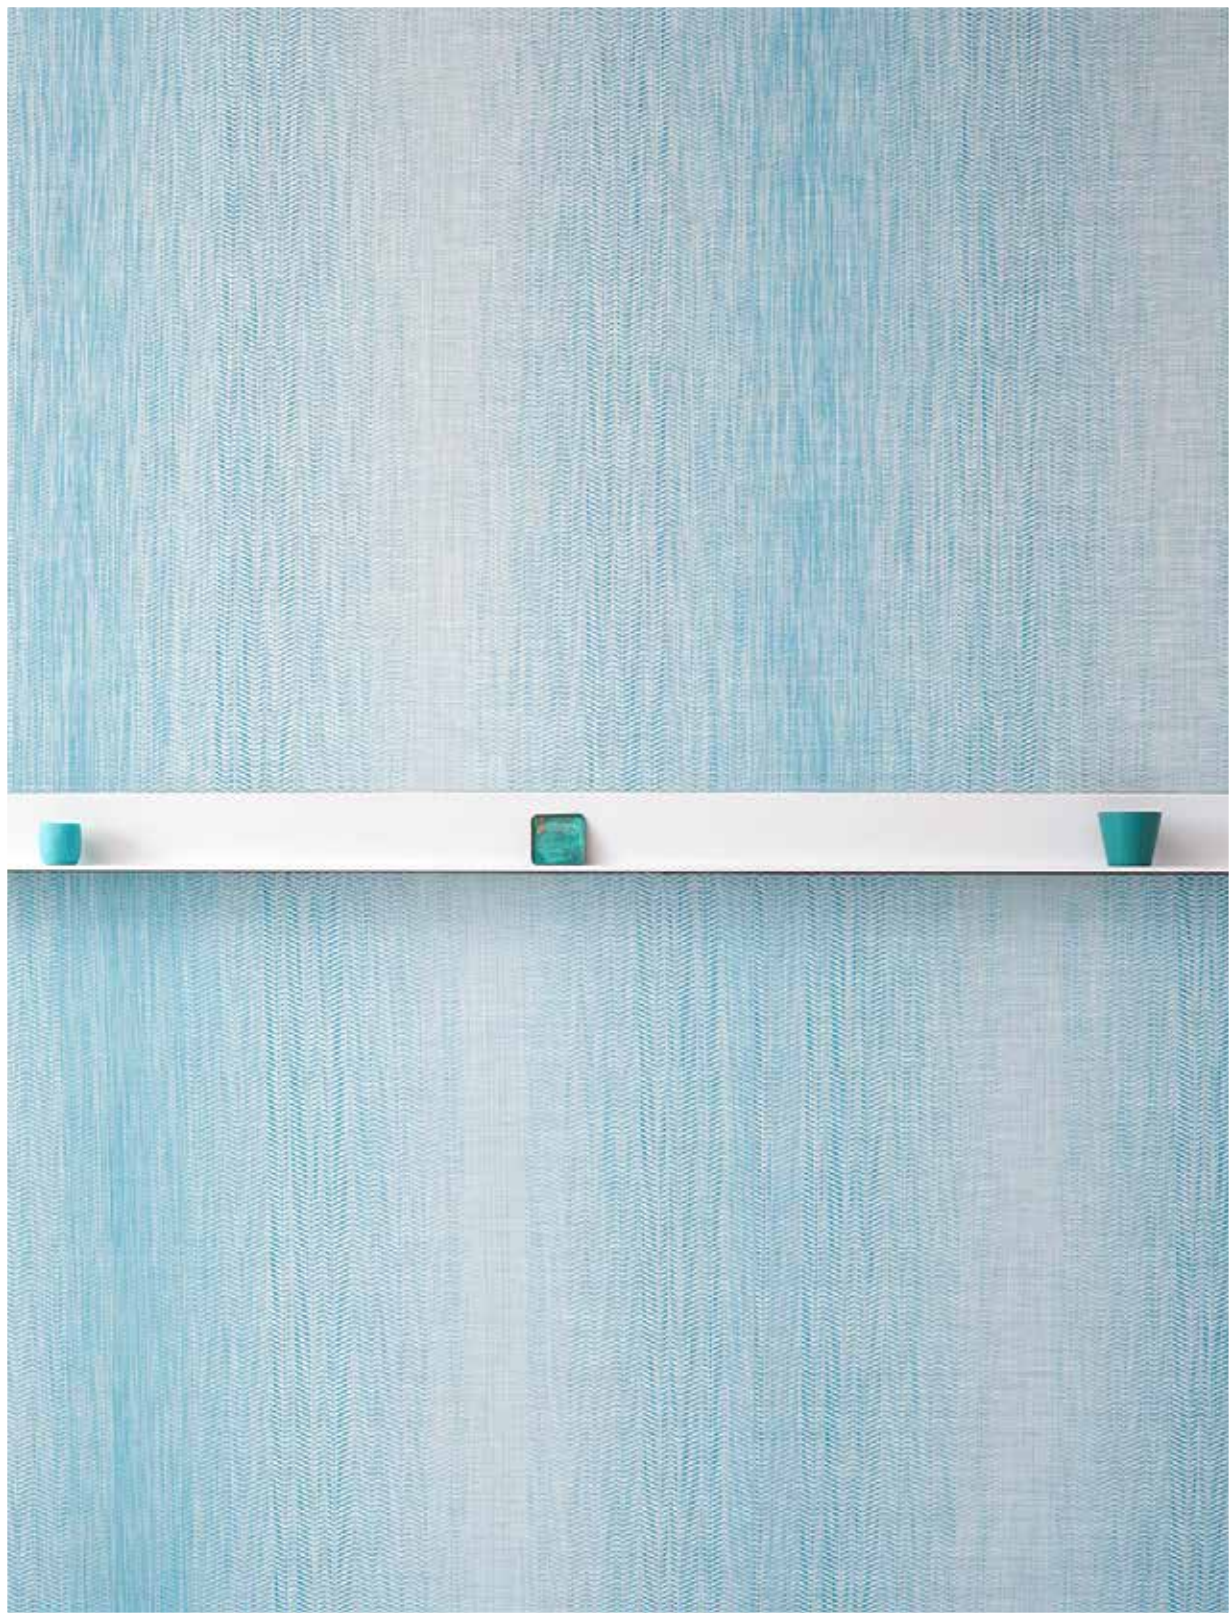

Out of the Blue

Aquatic hues sampled from sea plants, swimming pools, and Atlantic swells informed the creation of shade-shifting combinations of cool colors. Turquoise is reimagined in variegated geometries, while blue returns to its roots in classic cobalt and moody midnight.

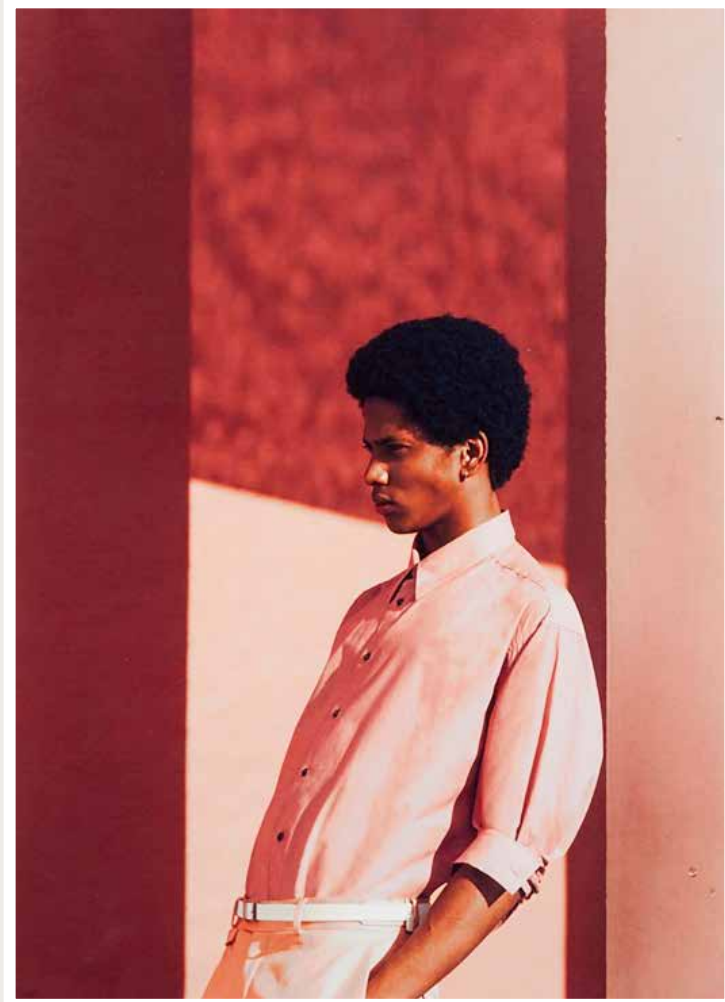

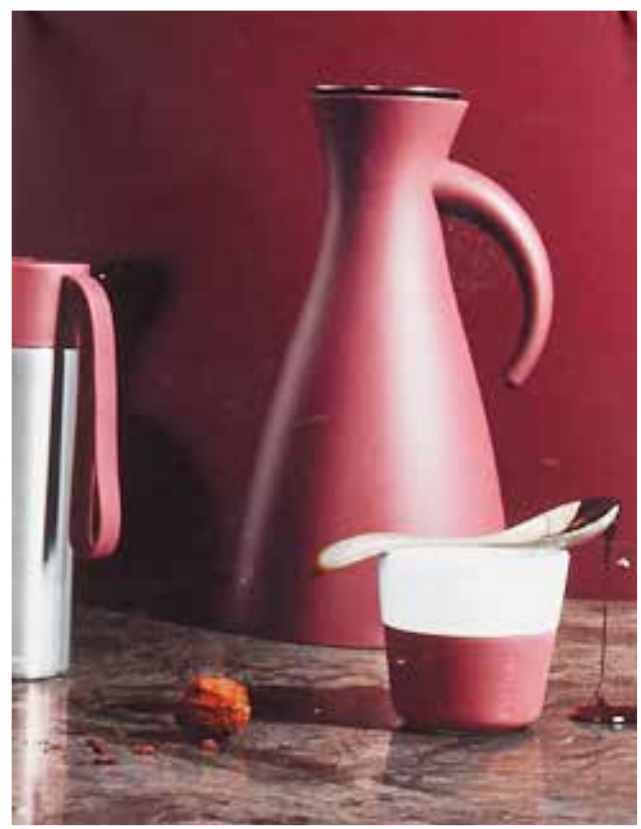

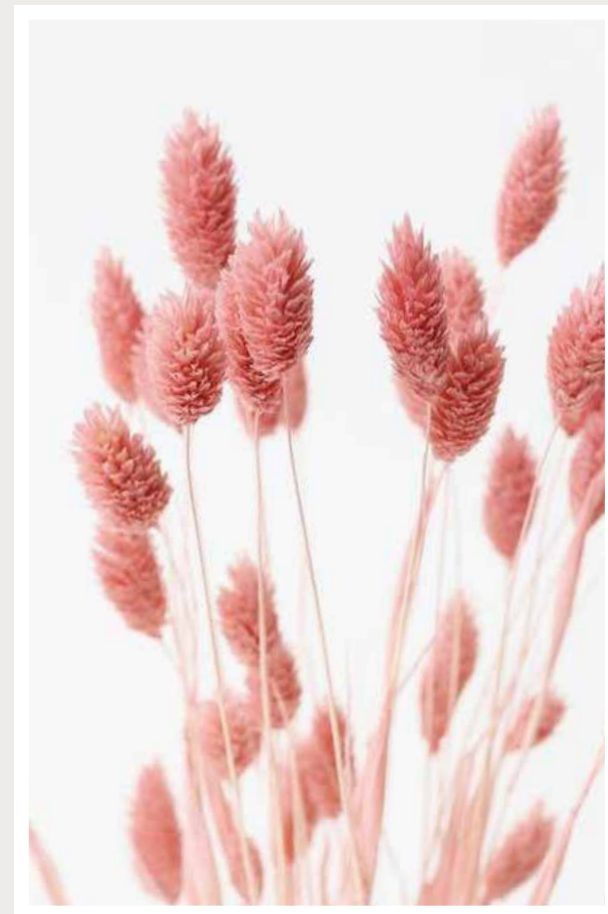

Real Reds

To harness the power and allure of red for year-round enjoyment, the design team looked to garnet, brick, and cherry. Tonal combinations of these full-bodied hues reveal their dynamic range. At once bold and nuanced, they unite texture and pattern to dazzling effect.

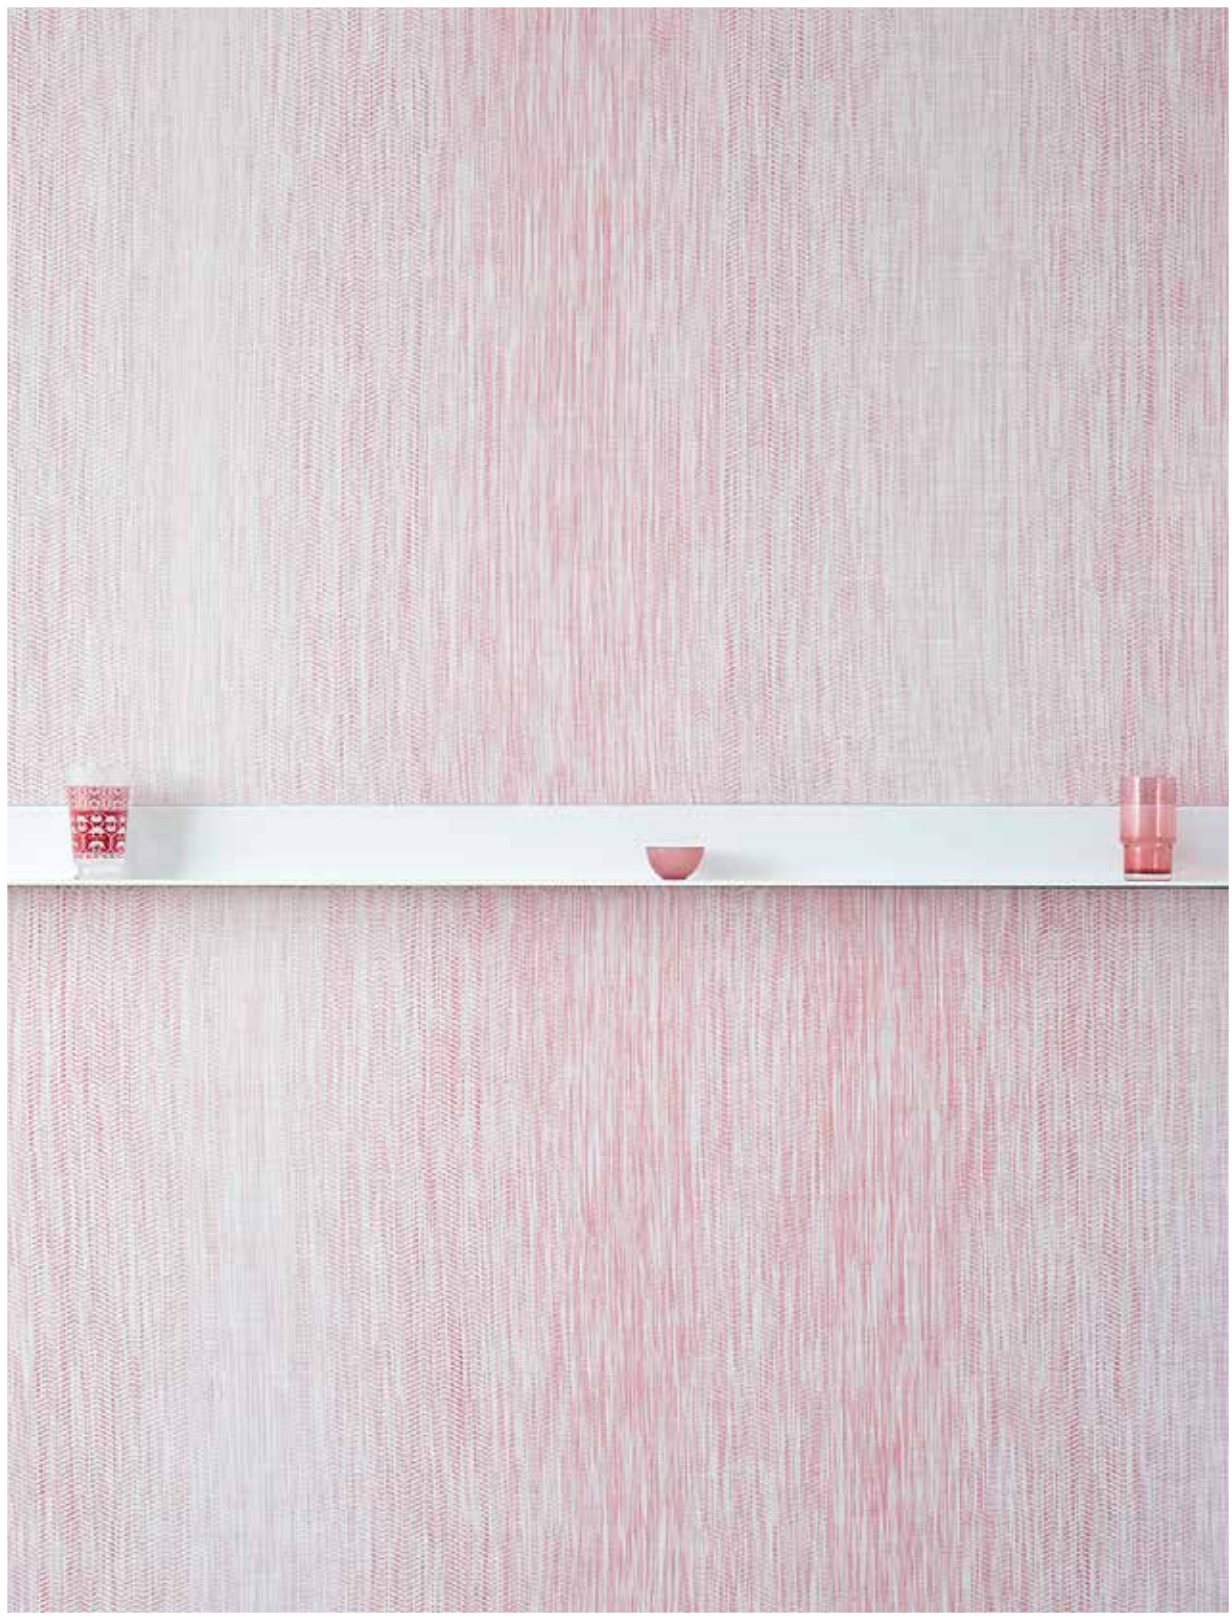

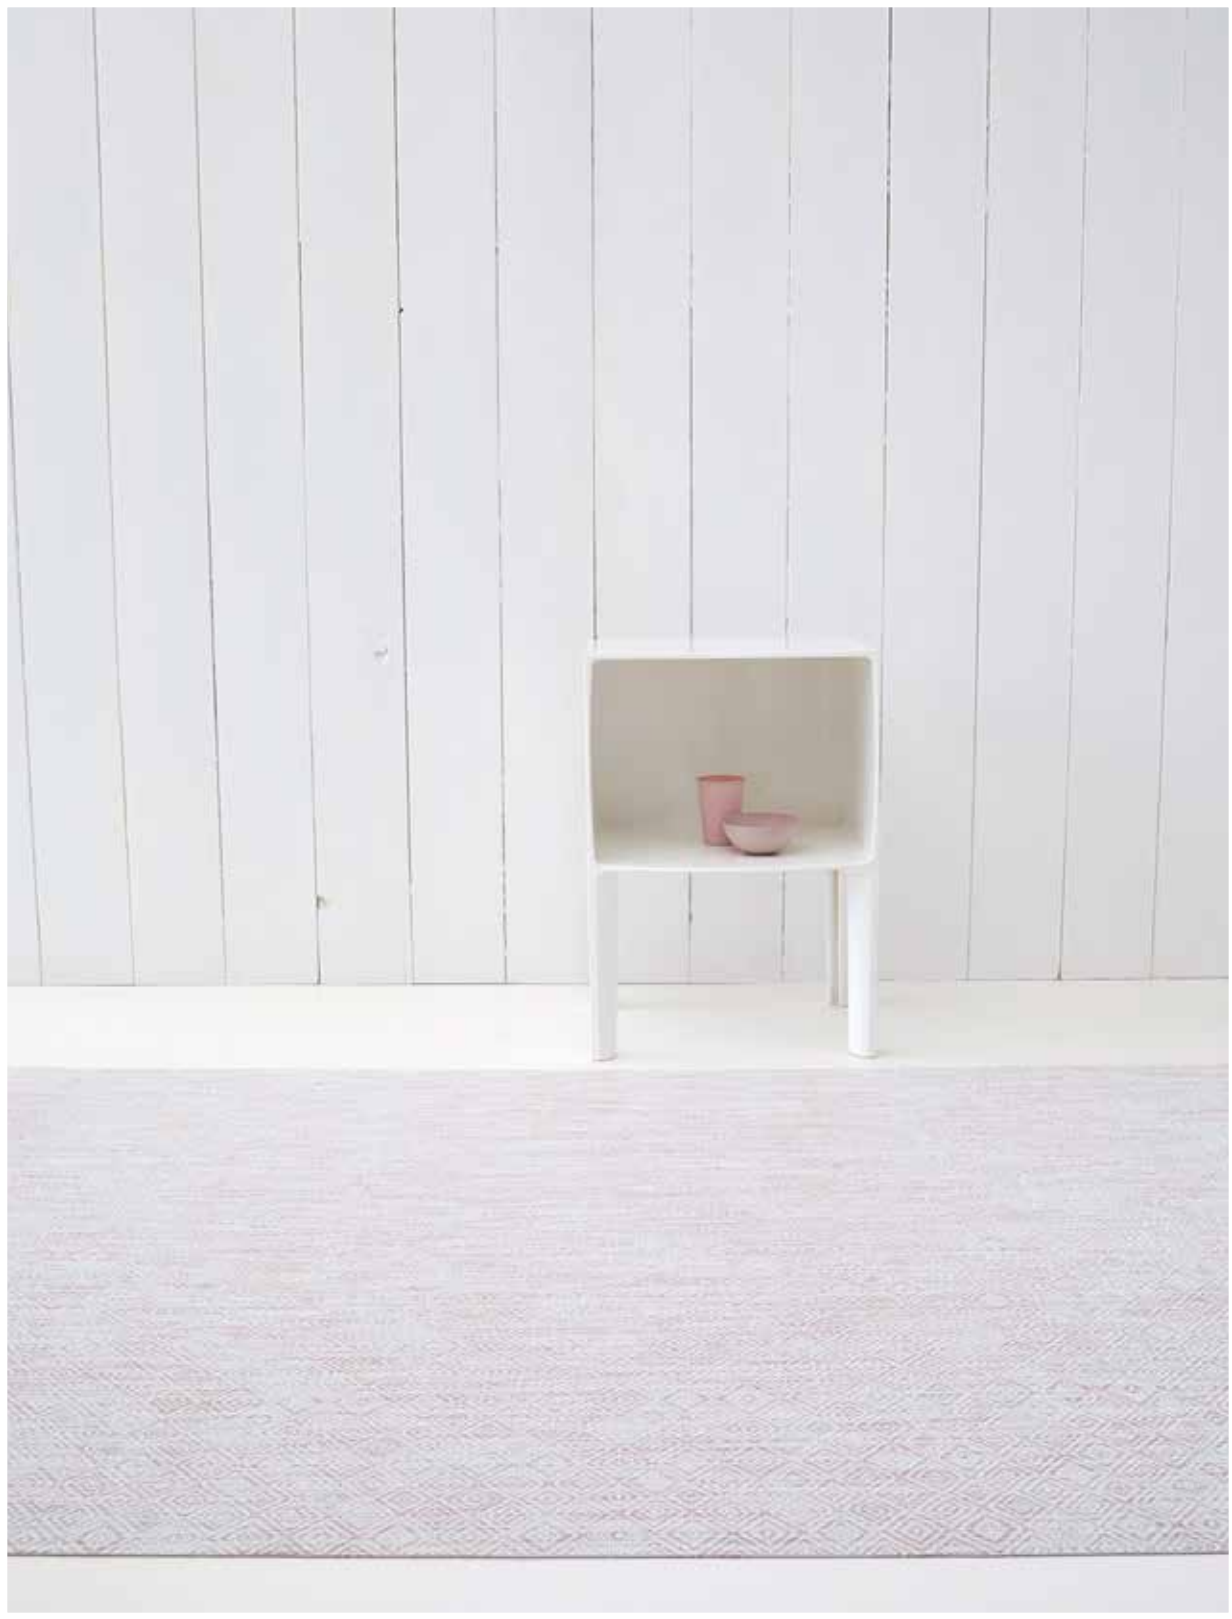

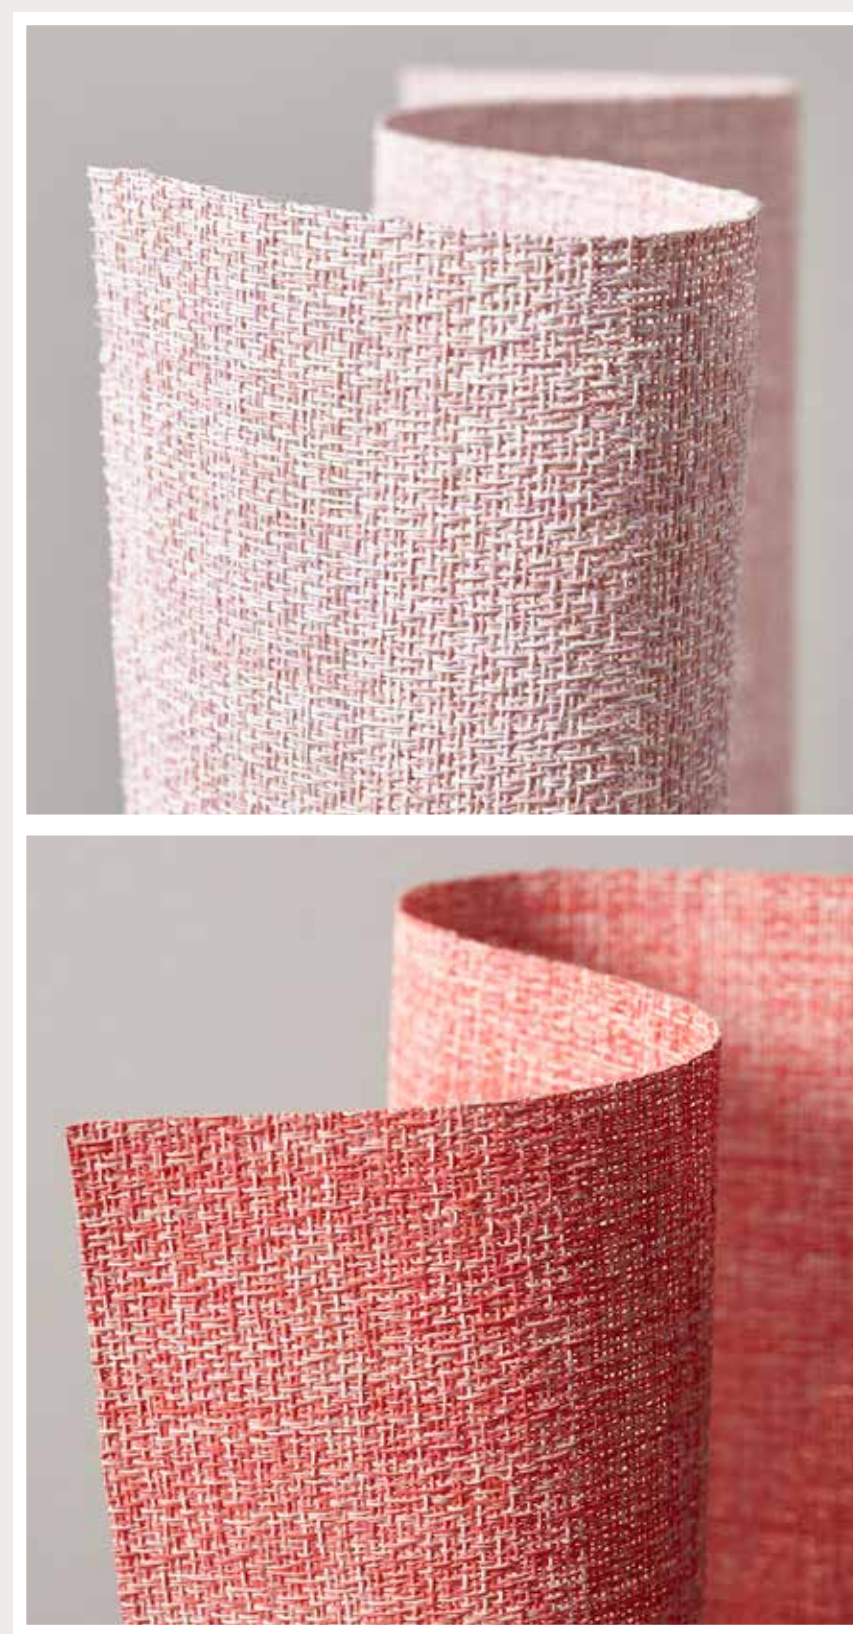

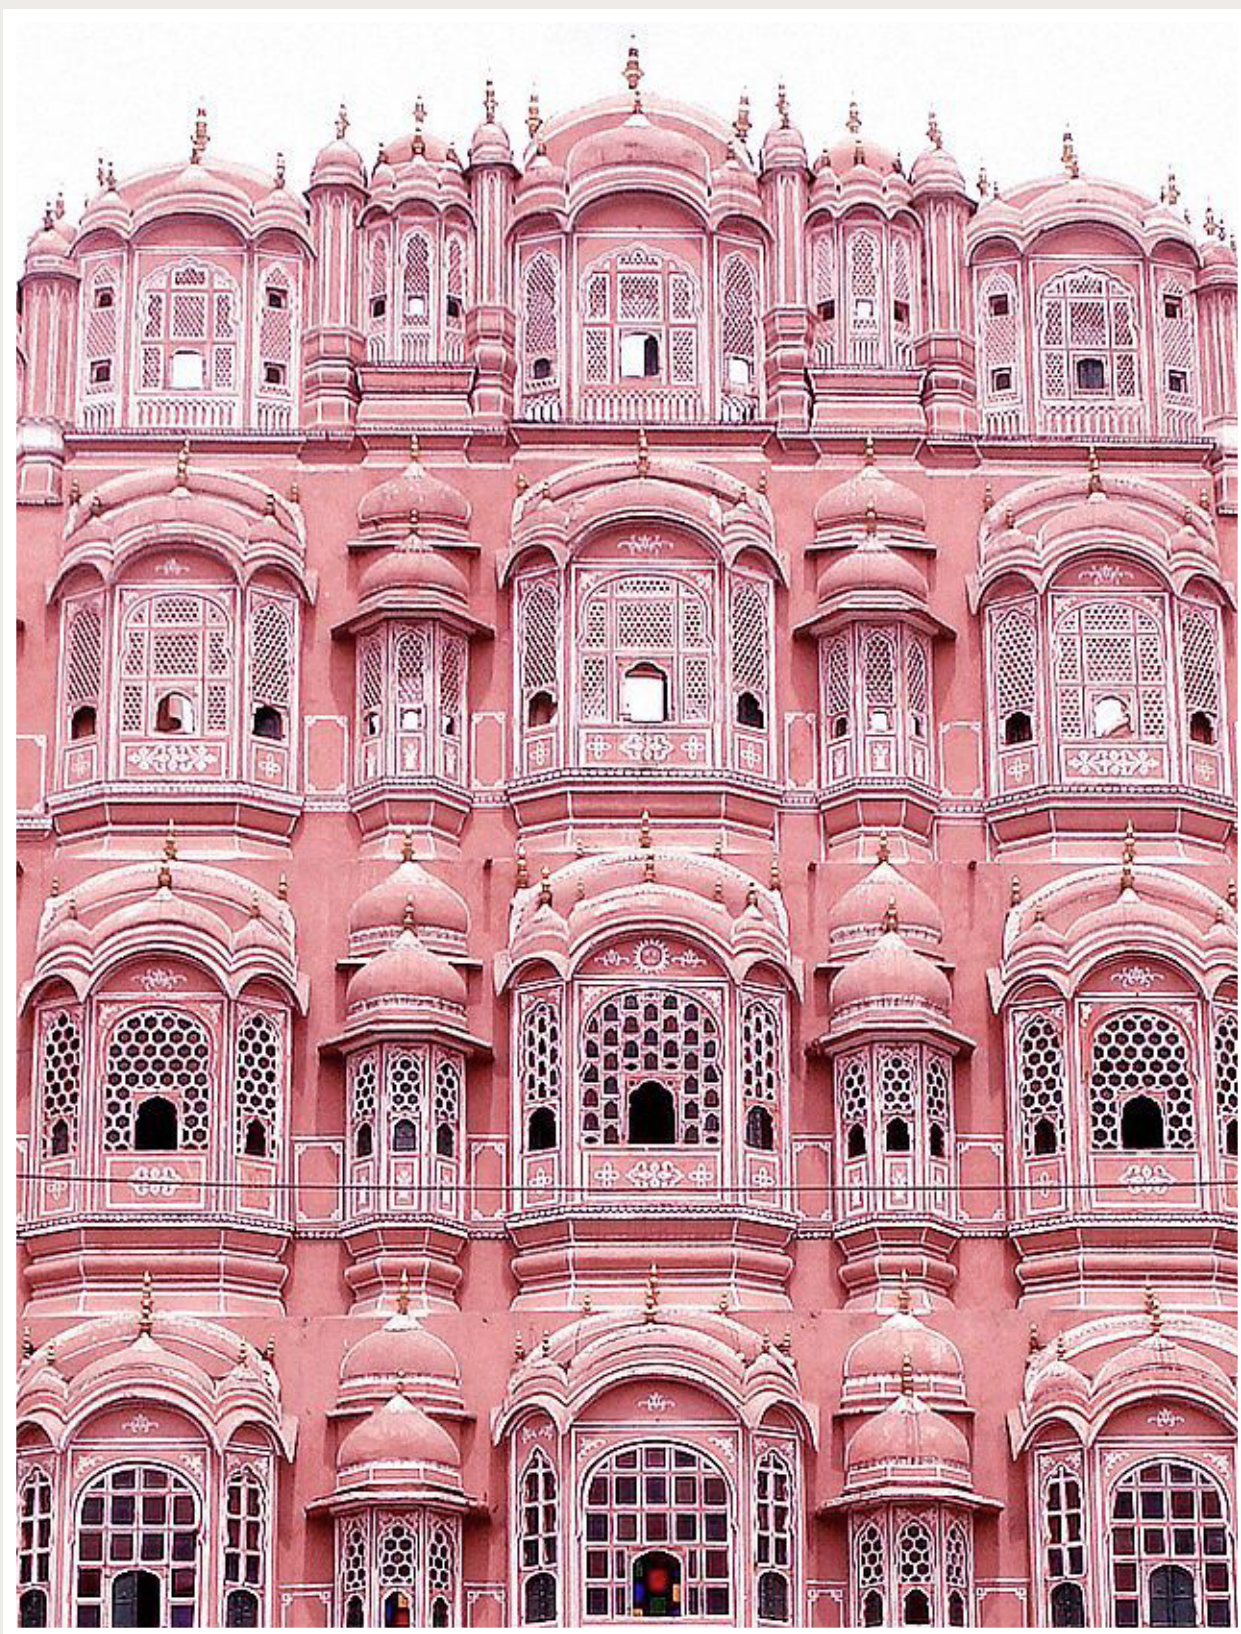

The Power of Pink

An exploration of red's softer side led to the development of warm, joyful hues inspired by precious coral and tropical fruits. Ranging from radiant to rosy, each color is placed in dialogue with white, allowing it to act as either a foundation or an accent.

New Neutrals

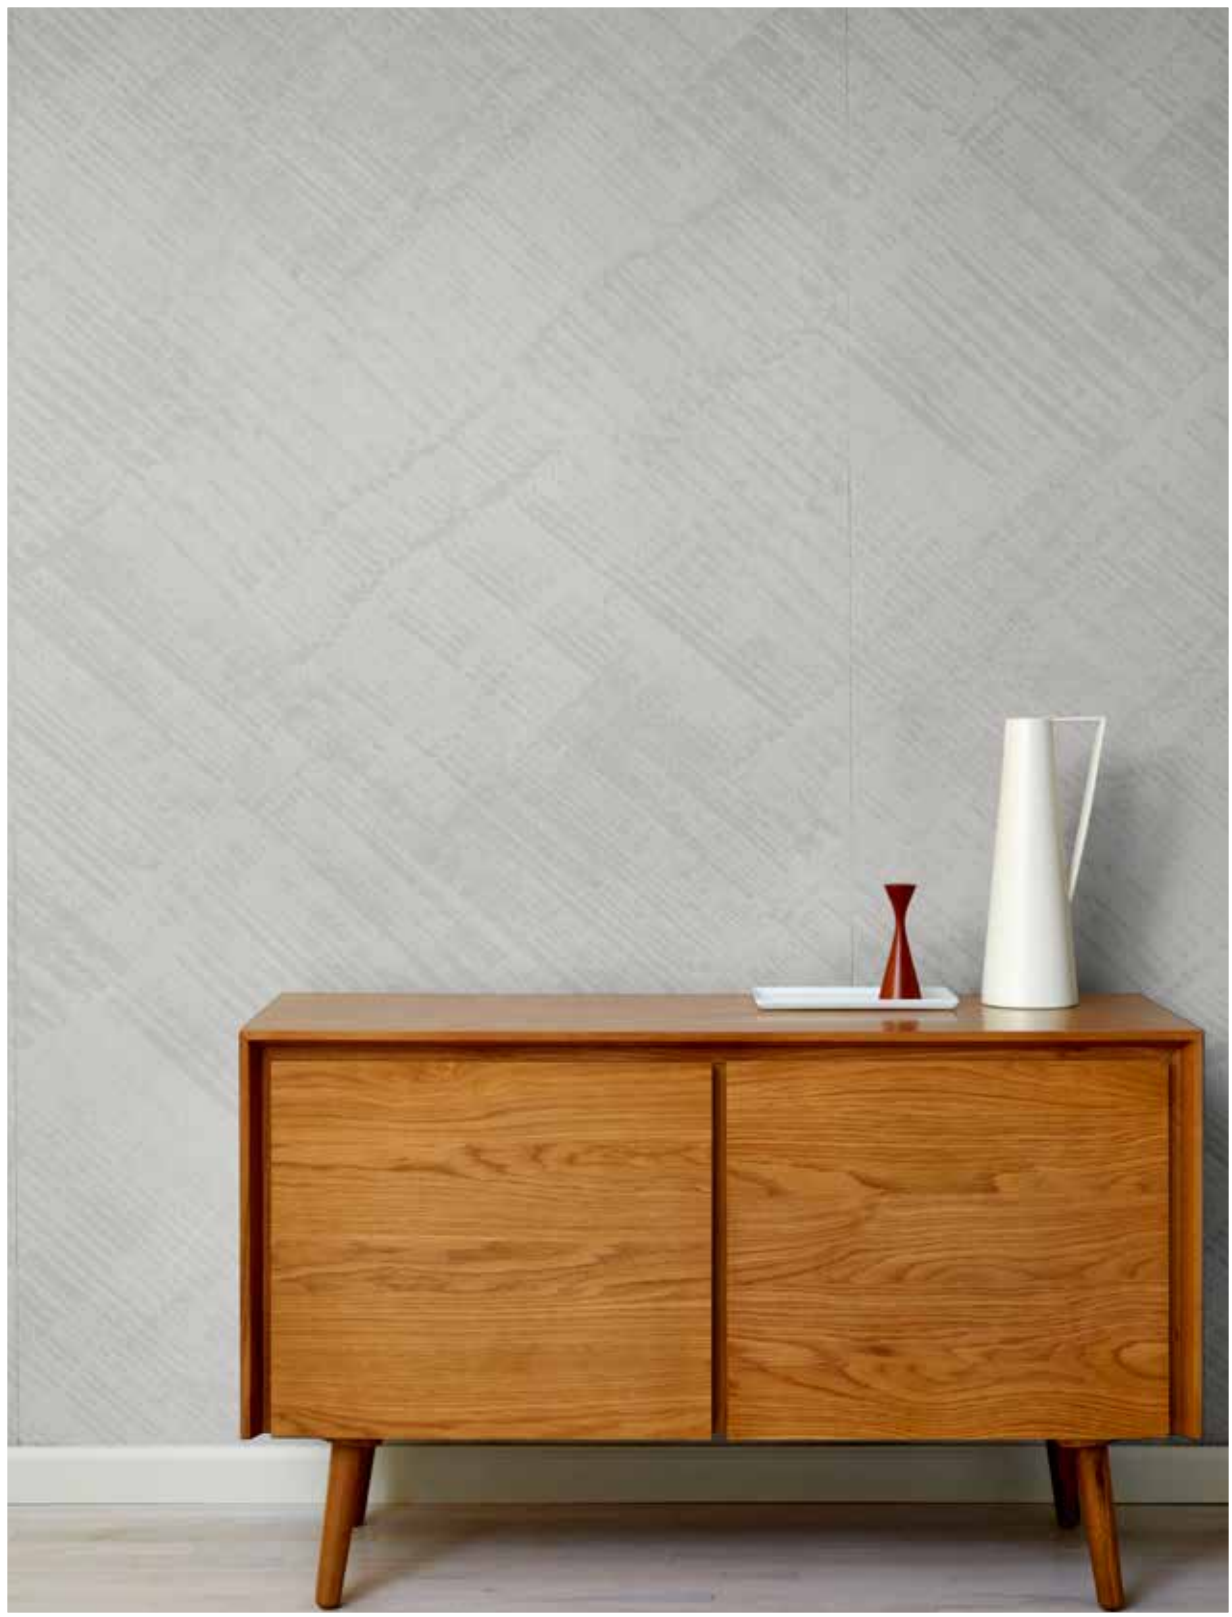

Able to harmonize with virtually any space or style while also enhancing it, neutrals are a Chilewich specialty. These serene variations on cream, sand, khaki, and taupe illuminate the art of weaving through subtle contrasts and playful patterns.

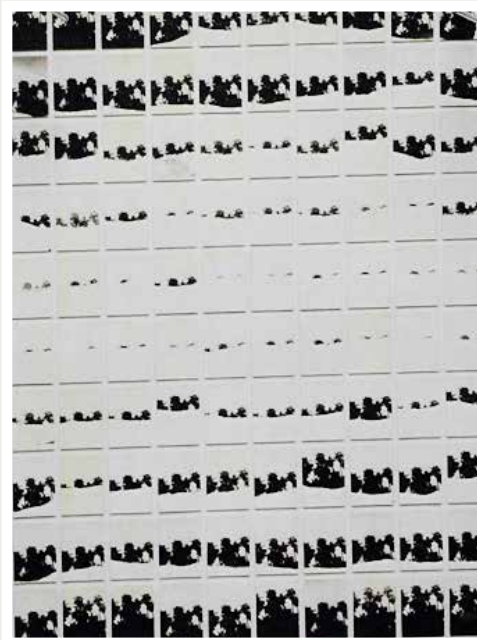

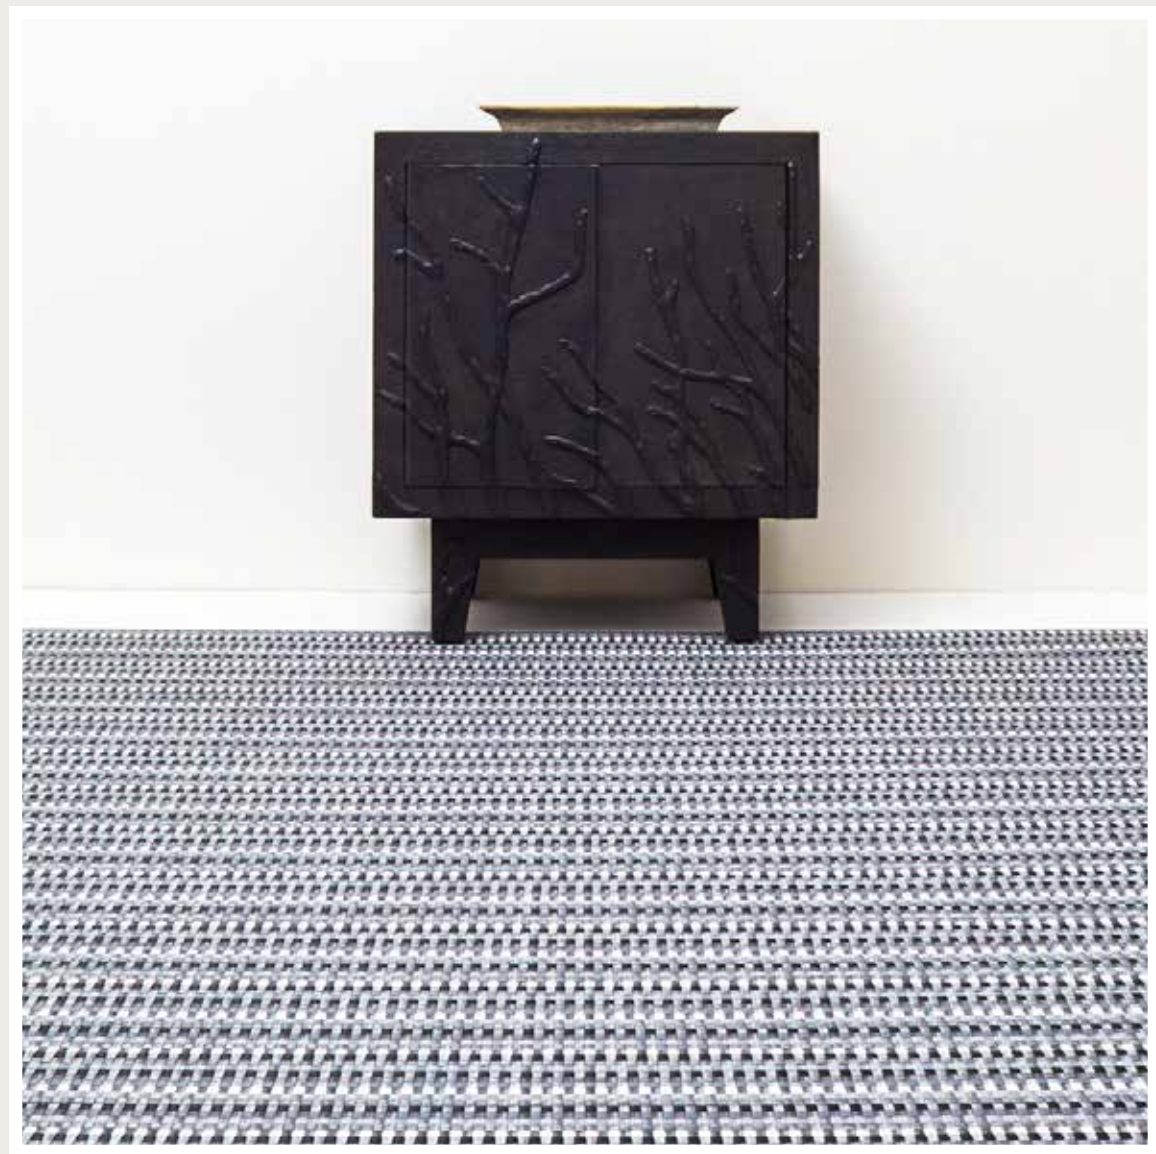

Mastering Monochrome

The foundation of black and white continues to propel our design process forward. As eternal absolutes—light and dark, beginning and end, blank canvas and total darkness—these poles offer endless creative possibilities, and infinite shades of grey.
